CEC @ 2014 IUCN World Parks Congress

In this issue, we share the exciting activities led by CEC members at the 2014 IUCN World Parks Congress (WPC) in Sydney, Australia that starts today, November 12, 2014. CEC is co-leading stream 8: "Inspiring a New Generation." Stay up to date with all of stream 8 activities by following us on twitter (@WPCing) and join the conversation online via www.facebook.org/WPC.ING.

Best wishes,
Juliane Zeidler, CEC Chair

Latest Thought Leadership
Empowering the next generation to connect with nature
Nikita Lopoukhine, Keith Wheeler et al.
November 12, 2014
Humankind’s affinity to nature is threatened. Youth, in particular, are missing out. Without the connection, a love of nature cannot... Read More »

Scientists as storytellers: The lives of those who study life
Diogo Verissimo
October 20, 2014
To convey to the public what it means to be a field biologist, 18 Portuguese biologists came together to share a collection of field stories that became a career ... Read More »

CEC Members in Action

CEC members’ meeting during WPC
CEC Operations
An informal gathering for all CEC members attending the WPC is being organized at Novotel in the Sydney Olympic Park on November 16 from 6-8pm... Read More »

Inspiring a New Generation
Wendy Goldstein
Inspiring a new generation is at the heart of the "People" theme of the overall congress. For the first time, WPC will collate and communicate the most compelli... Read More »

Children and Nature
Wendy Goldstein
Cheryl Charles, long-standing CEC member, is managing the whole of the stream relating to the Children and Nature drawing on expertise from ... Read More »
Interacting across generational boundaries at WPC
Grace Mwaura

The IUCN Taskforce on Intergenerational Partnerships for Sustainability is holding their first Intergenerational Dialogues. Read More »

Live streaming IUCN WPC
WPC Comm Team

Watch events live - The 2014 World Parks Congress (WPC) will live stream events to ensure people around the globe are part of the WPC ... Read More »

The (re)Generation Project
Wendy Goldstein

The (re)Generation project aims to young people to stimulate a movement amongst other young people towards loving and caring for nature.. Read More »

Dong Shikui

Creative, Cooperative and Hard-working

I am presently researching climate change adaptation strategies in grassland areas in Quinghai - Tibetan Plateau areas.

Learn more about Dong.

Want to Get Involved with the CEC?

We are always looking for the latest and greatest from our members. The CEC accepts thought leadership articles, news items about your work in the field, and features members on a monthly basis. Learn More »

Copyright © 2014 IUCN Commission on Education and Communication, All rights reserved.
You are receiving this email because you are either an IUCN CEC member, or opted in at our website.

unsubscribe | manage subscription options