Moving Forward Together - Migration, Environmental Change & Conflict

Nov 17, 2020 at 7am PST / 10am EST / 3pm GMT / 11pm Taipei

The co-migration of human and other species catalyzed by environmental change, including climate change, is anticipated to increase dramatically in the next decades. As calls mount for conservation to account for these trends, how will conservation practice be affected and what conflicts are likely to increase?

This panel brings together panelists from the International Organization for Migration (IOM), United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), Rights and Resources Initiative (RRI), World Bank, University of California Irvine (UCI), and the International Institute for Sustainable Development (IISD), to discuss the role of conservation and the need for rights-based people-centered nature-based solutions addressing these challenges.

| 15:00 GMT Welcome & Introductions | Elaine and Galeo
|                                 | Opening remarks, 5 minutes |
| 15:05 GMT Panel Introductions | Brief introduction from all of the panelists (3-4 mins each):
|                                 | - Dina Ionesco or Mariam Traore Chazalnoel - International Organization for Migration (IOM) Thematic Specialist – Migration, Environment and Climate Change (MECC)
|                                 | - Andrea Dekrout - UN Environment (CMS)
|                                 | - Richard Matthew - Professor, University of California, Irvine (UCI)
|                                 | - Thomas Worsdell - Independent Researcher and Consultant, Rights and Resources Initiative (RRI) and the Asia Indigenous Peoples Pact (AIPP)
|                                 | - Kanta Kumari Rigaud - World Bank
|                                 | - Alec Crawford - International Institute for Sustainable Development (IISD) |
| 15:30 GMT Q&A Moderators: Elaine Hsiao - CEESP/Sheffield Institute for International Development (SIID)
|                                 | Galeo Saintz - CEESP
|                                 | Moderators: Elaine Hsiao - CEESP/Sheffield Institute for International Development (SIID)
|                                 | Galeo Saintz - CEESP
|                                 | 1. What will be the greatest challenges to conservation in relation to migration, environmental change and conflict? How are these impacted by COVID-19?
|                                 | 2. How can the conservation community respond to these challenges in ways that are conflict-sensitive and prepare us to build back better
3. Are there people-centred, nature-based approaches to addressing these challenges? Or are these two approaches diametrically opposed?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>15:55</th>
<th>Richard</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Closing Remarks</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>